

SEO Consultancy

Contributed by fgjg gfjg
Sunday, 17 May 2009

With the growing competition in the fast pace internet world, building a website is no more enough for getting online business. Just imagine, what gets you a business, traffic. What gets you traffic, search engines, banners, advertisings etc., but prominently a search engine, isn't it? The surveys have confirmed that 86% of the internet users depend upon the search engines e.g. Google, yahoo etc. Hence, this is clear that you need to show your website in search engine results, probably the first page and prominently the top five listings. You have reached to the doors of search engine optimization (SEO) and Search Engine Marketing (SEM) Consulting. What your website requires is an added edge, to stand above the million of other websites which are offering almost the same SEO service as you do. Synapse's SEO consulting specialists can help your website achieve that edge.

What is SEO Consultancy?

Well, you are creating a new website. You have plans to promote it in search engines. You are waiting that the developers & designers shall complete and deliver the website. Now what? You showed it to some and they suggest you numerous changes in website architecture. At this point of time you realize that the cost involved in making your website search engine friendly is almost the same or even greater than the original website building costs.

SEO consultancy is the service that can help you avoid this extra time and cost involved in making your website compatible to search engines. Synapse has a professional desk of SEO & SEM consulting specialists who can assist your designers and developers to build a website that is focused towards your target audience. Our SEO consultants will understand your business and marketing goals to develop a promotional strategy in order to improve your presence and secure your position in search engine's results.

Synapse as SEO & SEM Consulting Specialist

Globalesoft Technology is a leading SEO consulting company offering world class search engine marketing and optimization services that include SEO consulting services, market research, SEO analysis, and much more. At Synapse, we have team of SEO consultants, analyst, and SEO experts who, armed with their experience and industry specific knowledge, give you the best advice for promoting your business globally. What gives us our stand is incorporation of some of the latest technology and techniques to ensure rankings for keywords that help you reach your marketing objectives.

We ensure that website that ranks in the search engines attract customers into your sales process and this puts us way ahead of our competitors, because we not only take interest in what is going on in the search engines, but directly in your sales process too.

Send us your requirement details through the form in the right column of this page and we shall get back to you with the best possible options to promote your website in search engines.